Getting There

Whether by train, bus, car, bicycle, or boots; commuting to and from campus is a fact of life for UMB students. For some it means being a few minutes late for class after getting caught in traffic on 93, and having to park your car in the far reaches of the North lot. For others it means a few extra minutes sleep on the train, meeting a friend or professor on the shuttle bus. Regardless of what commuting meant to each of us during our time at UMB, it remains that we braved the elements and all the pitfalls and potholes of commuter travel for one primary reason.

Campus

"I've learned that education, experience,
and memories are three things no
one can take away from you"

The UMass Boston Harbor Campus situated on a man-made peninsula stretching into Dorchester Bay is often subject to severe weather including gale-force winds and driving snow and rain that drove many students to seek the shelter of the catwalk as they trekked to class.

However, in contrast to the harsh weather, the location of the campus also provides beautiful vistas; the sun reflects off the blues of the vivid sunrises and well as a spectacular view of the Boston skyline flecting brilliant harbor sunsets, as panoramic to the north.

A smiling face in the Financial Aid office

then there have been numerous stops in the Financial Aid Office to get a questions answered or to drop off one of the innumerable required forms. From there it might have been a trip to the Bursar's Office to pay a bill or to pick up a check; or to the Registrar's Office to drop a class and re-request transcripts. However, although visiting these offices is part of the UMB experience, it is doubtful that any student will look back and wish they had spent more time in the offices of Administrative Services.

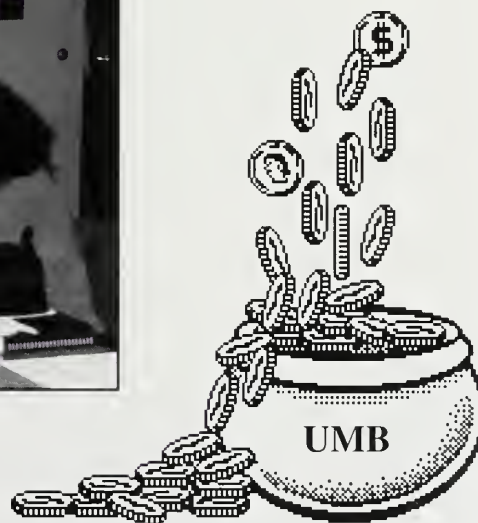

Every student at UMB has had to deal with one or more facets of Administrative Services. Our time here most likely began with a visit to the Admissions Office. Since

Our Lives

UMB Students bring together
the cultures of the world.

The devil made me do it!

Our lives as UMass students consisted of more than just time spent in class. Many of us made new friends and discovered new interests. Others shared their diverse cultures with fellow students or supported an organization within the university community. The opportunities for learning and personal growth at UMB were often found beyond the confines of the classroom. We learned from one another, and for that our lives are richer.

The mind ought sometimes to be diverted, that it may return the

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

s students we have participated in a variety of activities, from sports to politics, and from this we have grown. In all of our endeavors we have striven to excell, to believe in our own words and convictions, and to give back a little of what has been given to us. At times that meant just showing up so our voices would be heard. By choosing to do so we made a difference, for the first lesson of democracy is attendance.

The Hub of New England

The Boston Public Library was the nation's first free public library, opened in 1854.

The other three University of Massachusetts residential campuses have dorms and dining halls. UMB students choose from single and two family homes and apartment living. They enjoy a variety of fine restaurants, pubs, and pizza joints. Essentially, the city of Boston is an extension of the UMB campus.

Boston is a center of education, culture, art, and music; from the icy heights of the Hancock tower, and the antique architecture of the Trinity Church in Copley Square, to the abundance of culture and cuisine that can be found in the North end, Boston has it all and it is here for UMB students.

Within the city proper, which extends from Jamaica Plain to Charlestown, there over 600,000 residents.

However, in the surrounding areas, which constitute the greater metropolitan area and include portions of five counties, there are more than 2.8 million residents and as students at UMB, we lived in every corner of this region and beyond.

WE ARE THE

One word usually associated with UMass Boston is DIVERSITY. The students of this university hail from a multitude of cultures from across the nation and the world, as well as a variety of educational and employment backgrounds.

Often we arrived by different paths, each of us bringing our own perspectives and experiences to the classroom, but regardless of our individual differences, we all leave with one thing in common, we represent the future.

The direction in which education starts a man will determine his future life.

The Mass Media

The Student Run and Supported Newspaper at the University of Massachusetts Boston

The core of The Mass Media

The Mass Media is the voice for the students on campus, providing coverage of news and events that are significant to the students who, unlike the other four campuses in the UMass system, are all commuters. The Mass Media had what could be described as a banner year in the news industry, through its hard and accurate coverage of the news on campus regarding the activities of the Student Senate. It was also a year when The Mass Media became news by printing an explicit photo on page one to correspond with a story written about the Senates use of its computers to store large quantities of pornography. The resulting furor over the image led to the creation of an advisory board for The Mass Media. Despite this, The Mass Media continued to publish throughout the year, even after its funds for payroll ran out six weeks before their last published issue. The dedication of the staff in continuing to produce the paper is testimony to the commitment required in todays journalism. Other major stories of the year included an investigation into activities in the Student Senate regarding violations of campaign finance laws; the fires in both the Science and McCormack Buildings; the AIDS quilt and President Clinton's visit.

UMass Boston Hosts AIDS Memorial Quilt

The NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt, an international memorial to those who have died of AIDS, will be shown April 23-25 in Clark Athletic Center.

Featuring 960 panels, the display is one of the largest in the country this year and UMass Boston's first hosting of the Quilt. At least 7,000 people are expected to visit.

The opening ceremony will be held on April 23 at 10 a.m. Volunteers will unfold the Quilt and begin reading aloud names of some of those lost to AIDS.

Donations collected at the UMass Boston display will benefit Camp Colors, a summer day camp at Lasell College in Newton for children with HIV and AIDS.

WHERE THE HISTORY

The Quilt began in San Francisco as one person's protest in June of 1987. Propelled by death and tragedy, a man named Cleve Jones spray-painted his friend's name, Marvin Feldman, onto a grave size piece of cloth. Others joined the effort by making panels of their own. Soon, thousands were adding names and expressing emotions by creating hand-made memorials for loved ones they lost to AIDS.

The NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt was nominated for a Nobel Peace Prize in 1989. Since 1987, more than three million people have visited the Quilt and more than $1.4 million has been raised for AIDS service organizations.

STILL TIME FOR NEW PANELS

The entire AIDS Memorial Quilt, the largest example of a community art project, includes more than 44,000 panels made by family members, friends, lovers, co-workers and others.

Jean MacGowan of the Music Department has conducted four quilting bees at the Boston Living.

Center for designing and sewing new panels. The bees were almost like workshops for the small groups of attendees, MacGowan said. "It's quite an evening," she said. "Nothing maudlin or sad or teary."

Panels are 3 feet by 6 feet—the size of a human grave—and are often made of materials not traditionally associated with quilting. One panel being sewn in Boston contains a red leather jumpsuit. Among the Quilt's thousands of panels are items such as Barbie dolls, car keys, cowboy boots, love letters and wedding rings.

All new Quilt panels that meet specifications will be accepted during the three-day display. For guidelines, contact MacGowan at 287-0980.

VOLUNTEERS STILL NEEDED

It's not too late to get involved with this historic campus event. Volunteers are needed to unfold panels, read names and assist in other ways. Call Cara Flynn at Sponsored Projects at 7-1170 to find out how you can help.

ONE STUDENT'S VISION

One student's feeling of isolation was the catalyst for bringing the AIDS Memorial Quilt to UMass Boston. When Steve Cicirelli first came to campus, no one wanted to talk about HIV, the virus for which he tested positive 11 years ago, he said. Hard to run the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual Center, Cicirelli made bringing the Quilt to campus a goal.

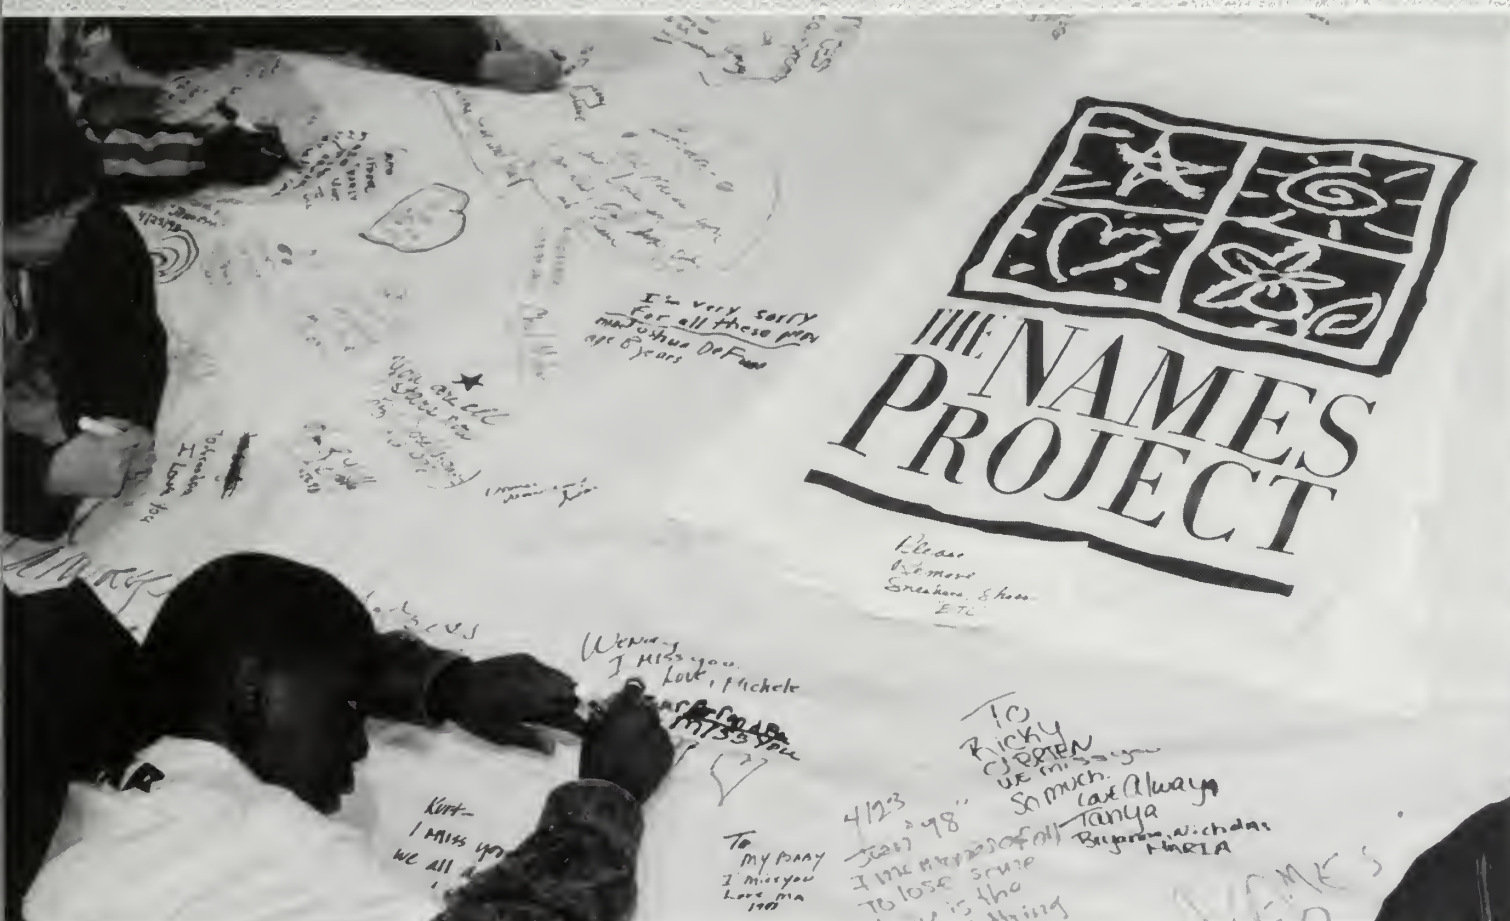

After speaking with the NAMES Project Foundation in San Francisco, Cicirelli refused to shy away from the hard work ahead. In April 1997, he convened a committee, now 20 members strong.

"I had to do a little bit of a sales job. I had to assure people that I thought it could be done," he said. "I found that after the first few people came on board, people were calling asking us if they can be on the committee," Cicirelli recalled.

"I think it's really unique in the sense that despite the differences people have, we're all together for this one event," he said.

For the graduating senior, bringing the Quilt to campus culminates Cicirelli's well-known campus service. "I couldn't imagine a better way to end my college career here at UMass Boston," he said.

Sure on this shining night
Of star-made shadows round,
Kindness must watch for me
This side the ground.
The late year lies down the north.
All is healed, all is health.
High summer holds the earth.
Hearts all whole.

Sure on this shining night
I weep for wonder wand'ring far alone
Of shadows on the stars.

A Hymn for Scholars and Pupils (1973)

Though knowledge must be got with pain,
And seemeth bitter at the root,
It brings, at last, a matchless gain
And yielded forth most pleasant fruit.

It is the richest kind of trim
That noble persons can put on;
It reason keeps from growing dim;
It sets a lustre there upon,
And raiseth princes now and then,
Out of the lowest ranks of men.

But such as do this gem neglect or seek it not when they are young,
Grow old in years without respect
And perish in the vulgar throng.

When others rise they then are still;
They see no choice 'twixt good and ill;
And that which best commends their state,
Is they repent when 'tis too late.

In Memorium

Professor Ina Samuels

"The senses folding thick and dark
About the stifled soul within
We guess diviner things beyond
And yearn to them with yearning fond;
We strike out blindly to a mark
Believed in, but not seen."
